

Your employee or colleague could be dyslexic. If unsupported, it could affect their productivity, morale and well-being.

They may keep it hidden and it may be mistaken for a lack of grammatical skills and attention to detail or appearing disorganised and forgetful.

Simple changes in the workplace can help the individual but also create a better working environment for all.

Dyslexia Scotland can help you by providing individually tailored sessions. Built around your requirements we can spend a half-day or a full-day giving your staff training, advice and knowledge about how to support your dyslexic employees. If you need a shorter session, no problem, just ask more about that option.

For up to 20 people, costs for this service are as follows:

Per half day:	£350 plus travelling expenses
Per day:	£600 plus travelling expenses

For more than 20 people, please call for more details.
