

What would happen if we were all the same?

It is tempting to think life would be easier if we were all the same. But let's take a moment to think about what life would really be like if that were true.

In the All the Same box, draw a picture of a garden where there is only ONE type of flower – you can only choose one petal colour and shape, and all flowers must look exactly the same.

In your garden, add only one type of animal or insect. Now, choose ONE type of weather to add to your garden. Will it be rain, or sun or snow? Add it to your garden to finish your picture.

All the same

What could happen if there were only one type of flower, animal, insect and weather?

Now draw a garden with many different types of flowers, plants, animals, and insects. In this garden, the weather changes every day. What could this garden look like?

What life looks like with variety

I think we can agree that life would be very boring if everything were all the same. We have been successful in our world because of the differences, diversity, and unique strengths of plants, animals, and people.

What could this activity teach you?